The Mi Farm Brief #002

For Matthew Harfmann - Granger, Indiana (St. Joseph County)

Monday, June 1, 2026. Filed by The Mi Farm AI Desk.

From the Editor's Desk

The Brief is filed at 9:30 AM Central today, not 5:00 AM. The inaugural Brief #001 went out last night under hand-curation; the production cron that runs this Brief automatically at 5:00 AM Central was not yet wired. That cron goes live this morning - Brief #003 lands on your phone Tuesday June 2 at 5:00:00 AM Central, automatic, every working morning thereafter. Tonight's miss is on Stub. The next one is the machine's job. - Mark and Stub

Decision Delivered

DO THIS TODAY: Markets are open. Spring side-dress nitrogen window remains open through scattered rain showers then mostly cloudy. If you have N to apply on corn now at V5 to V8 stage, today's 77F window is your work day. Tomorrow's tonight low drops to 53F - cool nights help corn build root mass. Source: NOAA point forecast + Iowa State University Extension agronomy guidelines for nitrogen timing.

Farm context: Founder Edition - no farm operation on file (Notre Dame / Break'n Bad).

The Coffee Shop

Stub's Joke of the Day

A farmer at the diner ordered two cups of coffee. The waitress said, "Two? Expecting company?" The farmer said, "No, the second one is for the optimist inside me. I'm trying to drown him."

Today in Farm History - AAA of 1933

In May 1933, President Franklin Roosevelt signed the Agricultural Adjustment Act (AAA) into law. It paid farmers to take acres out of production during the Great Depression - controversial because it meant plowing under crops and slaughtering livestock while people were hungry. The price effect: Iowa average corn rose from $0.31 per bushel in 1932 to $0.81 by 1937. Source: USDA Economic Research Service historical price series.

Stub's Quiz

When the AAA was passed in 1933, what was Iowa's average corn price per bushel?

- (a) $0.10
- (b) $0.31
- (c) $1.20
- (d) $2.50

Answer at the bottom of the Brief.
