Cal's Market Read

Overnight, corn added about 4 cents; and beans added about 4 cents.

Recent trend, over the last 5 sessions, corn has firmed and beans have firmed. That is the backdrop your cash bid is moving against.

Here is our read on why. Cutting the other way, demand still reads firm per Morning Ag Clips: MDARD, MI Commission of Agriculture and Rural Development Award $450,000 Grant. Honest truth, the tape does not hand us one clean reason today, so take this as our best read, not gospel.

Stocks point lower into the open, S&P; futures off about 0.2 percent. A softer tape can tighten the credit and input-cost mood your lender watches, worth a glance, but it does not set your cash bid.

Cal

Wall Street, yesterday's close

Dow Jones	52,219 to 0.0%
S&P; 500	7,499 to 0.1%
Nasdaq	25,691 to 0.6%
Russell 2000	2,960 to 0.9%

Decision Delivered

Your decisions for today and the week ahead:

- Reminder: Corn is filling grain (R3-R5 on seasonal normals) and beans are setting pods, the yield is being built now. Late-season disease and moisture stress matter most here.

Farm context: Founder Edition, no farm operation on file (Notre Dame / Break'n Bad).

What to Watch Today

- Field window: any rain risk eases by 6 AM, then the working day looks dry enough for field passes. Check the wind first.
- Market watch: corn up about 4 cents, beans up about 4 cents going into the day. Watch the cash bid at your elevator.
- On the wire: MPS Egg Farms Celebrates Grand Opening of the Strauss Feed Mill in Wabash County (see Cal's News Desk below).

The 10 stories that moved across the wires since yesterday's Brief, sourced, dated, and verifiable. Each one carries Cal's review, the same one the news page shows, with a link to read it straight from the source.

1. MPS Egg Farms Celebrates Grand Opening of the Strauss Feed Mill in Wabash County MPS Egg Farms just cut the ribbon on its brand new Strauss Feed Mill near North Manchester, Indiana, a high capacity plant that carries on a family milling tradition dating back to 1875 when Daniel Strauss first ran a water powered grain mill on the Eel River. Co-CEO Sam Krouse, part of the sixth generation of family leadership, says the mill turns local farmers' quality grain into quality feed for the thousands of hens across the company's three Indiana layer farms. For corn growers, the big news is a guaranteed, high volume local buyer right in the neighborhood, which means lower hauling costs, fewer freight miles, and a more dependable market close to home. It is a reminder that investments in local livestock and poultry feeding can open steady, profitable doors for grain producers, and the full story digs into how this cage-free egg powerhouse plans to keep growing. 3. Rollins Urges Congress to Pass $11.1B Emergency Farm Aid as Input Costs and Market Strains Mount Rollins joined defense leaders on Capitol Hill to push for the administration's sweeping $87.6 billion supplemental spending package. However, Rollins emphasized that existing permanent programs were not built to absorb the compounding pressures of 2026, which include widespread drought affecting nearly 47% of the country and severe winter freeze losses spanning from Florida to the Pacific Northwest. "But what we're seeing is just survival, and we're seeing a lot of the input companies... For producers caught between high overhead and shifting global markets, Secretary Rollins' message to Capitol Hill was unmistakable: passing the package buys the nation the security it needs, and it buys America's farmers time to survive. 5. No-Till Cropping & Business Insights The 2025 No-Till Farmer Operational Benchmark Survey is being promoted here as a deep online resource for no-tillage practices, with the pitch that a single good idea can pay back a subscription many times over. The piece also spotlights an advanced XPR concave system that threshes all crops with one set, cuts rotor loss, and delivers cleaner grain samples and better grain quality. Titan International gets a strong plug too, described as one of the largest North American makers of wheels, tires, and undercarriage products for farm, construction, forestry, mining, and other off road equipment, backed by a worldwide dealer network. It matters because these tools and suppliers all point toward the same goal for your operation, namely better productivity and profitability through smarter no-till decisions and reliable equipment. Read the full article. No-Till Farmer, Wed Jul 22, 2026 11:00 PM CT

6. MDARD, MI Commission of Agriculture and Rural Development Award $450,000 Grant The funding, awarded by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development (MDARD), will enable the company to construct a new mill facility, implement advanced technology and create 17 new jobs. We appreciate MDARD's commitment to investing in innovative food and agriculture businesses that add value to Michigan-grown products and help build a stronger, more resilient agricultural economy." Although Michigan produces more than 340 million bushels of corn each year, the state does not have any corn mills. Since Fiscal Year 2019, MDARD has awarded more than $6.9 million of FAIP grants. 80% or 90% of each member's payout will be delivered [...] Read the full article. 9. House passes $95B measure with ag aid, Senate outlook is shaky Lawmakers in the House squeaked through a $95 billion package by a razor thin 216 to 214 vote, setting aside as much as $12 billion to steady a struggling farm economy. The aid is meant to offset surging fuel and fertilizer costs tied to the ongoing war with Iran, though critics like Rep. Thomas Massie of Kentucky called it a hidden war slush fund and said the real fix is ending the fighting. Massie and fellow Republican Warren Davidson of Ohio joined nearly all Democrats in voting no, while Speaker Mike Johnson and Vice President JD Vance shaped the plan, which also carries Trump's SAVE America Act requiring proof of citizenship and photo ID to vote. It matters to your operation because that farm money is far from guaranteed, since Budget Chairman Jodey Arrington is now pushing a shaky Senate to pass it. 10. Mexico ends pseudorabies-related limits on U.S. pork Mexico has finally reopened its market to U.S. pork products like offal, jowls, skins, fat, snouts and stomachs after a six week trade halt tied to a pseudorabies outbreak detected in Iowa at the end of April. Erin Borrer of the U.S. Meat Export Federation, speaking at last Friday's Iowa Farm Bureau Economic Summit, said the precautionary restrictions were eventually narrowed to just Iowa and Texas before being fully lifted at the start of this week. She credited the USDA and partner groups like the NPPC for pushing to get the limits removed. This matters because Mexico is the biggest foreign buyer of U.S. pork, taking roughly one third of all U.S. pork export volume, so getting that trade flowing again is a big deal for demand and prices. Today in Farm History, Boll weevil enters U.S. 1892

Around 1892, the boll weevil crossed the Rio Grande into Texas from Mexico. By 1922 it had reached Virginia and was destroying about a third of the Southern cotton crop annually. The weevil drove the Great Migration of Black farm families north, and pushed Southern agriculture toward peanuts (Carver's work) and soybeans.
